

ONLINE COURSES OFFERED FALL 2004

Southeastern Free Will Baptist College is pleased to announce the establishment of our new Center for Online Studies beginning the Fall semester of 2004 when a pilot program consisting of three courses will be offered via the Internet.

Supervising and teaching in this program is Dr. Danny Baer who has just completed his Ph.D. in Computers in Technology in Education. Not only did Dr. Baer take many courses in the online environment, he also completed a number of graduate level classes concerning online delivery systems and online learning theory.

What Courses will be Available?

Computers in the Ministry:

This course provides an overview of computers and their impact on the ministry. Subjects covered will include basic concepts of computers, the hardware of computers, the software available, such as Bible search programs and church administration programs, and the use of the Internet. The professor is Dr. Danny Baer.

Philippians:

An introduction and exposition of Philippians. Special emphasis is given to Paul's wonderful relationship to the Philippians. The professor is Mr. Rodney Holloman.

Operating Ministries of Outreach:

A study of officiating specific ministries to all ages of church youth. These ministries include bus ministry, Sunday school, Children's church, Junior church, and youth ministries. Emphasis is given to the student's ability to plan and to administer all aspects of youth work. The professor is Howard Gwartney.

What are Online Studies?

Traditional correspondence courses are mailed to students who complete the work with little time constraints and virtually no contact with professors. Online studies are offered during a semester that is set up with starting and ending dates, and assignments are due during the course of the semester. This way each course offered has a professor guiding the students through the learning process as well as a class of students that make up a community of learners who can communicate with each other while taking the course.

Why a Pilot Program?

Online courses are widely accepted in institutes of higher education and have proven to be very effective. However, teaching an online class is quite challenging. We believe that it is in the best interest of our students to take this program a step at a time. We have selected three of our professors who are some of the most "techno" savvy. After they have developed and taught their

For more information and a registration packet go online to online.sfwbc.edu courses we will be ready to expand the program.

What Will it Cost?

Our online classes will be charged at the same rate as our on campus classes. Right now that cost is $110 per semester hour. However, we are offering a special 10% discount for any off campus students who sign up for our program this fall.

What's in Store?

It is our desire that we will be able to offer all of the courses we now offer through our External Studies Program online. We also hope to offer many courses we now teach in the classroom online. Eventually, we hope to offer Bible Certificates for Sunday School teachers and Church workers as well as four year degrees through our online program.

How Do I Sign Up?

Call our college office at 888-U-4-SFWBC and request a registration packet for our "Center for Online Studies." You can also go online to online.sfwbc.edu and download the registration packet there.

Danny Baer Earns Ph.D.

The board of directors and administration of Southeastern Free Will Baptist College congratulate faculty member Rev. Danny Baer, in recently receiving his Ph.D. in computer technology in education. The degree was conferred on Monday, June 7, 2004 from Nova Southeastern University, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

Dr. Baer received a Master of Science Degree in 1996 in computer technology in education from the same institution, and in 1999 he received an Ed.S. (education specialist) degree. Dr. Baer's dissertation for

Ph. D. was a study on the advanced technology competency requirements for teacher licensure in the state of North Carolina.

Previous educational accomplishments include a BS Degree in computer science and math education in 1975 from Ohio State University. He also studied Greek and pastoral studies at Free Will Baptist Bible College from 1974 to 1976. He re-

PASSING THE MANTLE

DR. LORENZA STOX

Elijah is about to be taken to Heaven. His work on earth is almost finished. Upon whom will his mantle fall? Who will step up and become the next great prophet? Elijah was such a giant among men. He was indeed God's man—a man of unique character and courage. He stood in the face of Ahab and said, "You're the one that troubleth Israel." He stood on Mount Carmel and challenged the 450 prophets of Baal. He pronounced judgment upon Ahab and Jezebel. What a man of God!

God has always had His man. When one of God's men goes off the scene, He raises up someone else to take their place. There was Moses. Then God handed the mantle to Joshua. Saul was Israel's first king. He died and David rises to the throne. Paul passed his baton to a young man named Timothy.

Who will rise and assume the place of Elijah? Elisha now comes on the scene and picks up the mantle of Elijah. Elisha's request in assuming this tremendous responsibility was that a double portion of the Spirit of Elijah be upon him. Elijah's response to Elisha was "Thou hast asked a hard thing." Why would he respond in such a manner? It certainly wasn't hard for God. It was a hard thing for man because most people are not willing to pay the price. You have to learn to wait on God and realize that persecution often comes with such a responsibility. It's also a hard thing for God to delegate

His power to people who are not ready for it. But Elisha was ready.

As we turn our eyes on our movement today and make the application, who will be the ones who will take the mantle from the older leaders and carry on the work? I really believe this is what Southeastern is all about. Our purpose, our ministry is to prepare preachers, missionaries and other full time Christian workers who will be willing to stand for righteousness and purity and holiness in such an evil day when most all restraints are gone. They must also be willing to speak up for the great truths found in the inerrant, infallible, inspired Word of God.

There must be a voice that will instill in the next generation the principles and truths learned from previous generations.

Our graduates—our leaders of the next generation must be young men and young women who are willing to be servants. In being Christ-like they understand that serving is a far greater attribute than being served. This is a must if one is to be used to their maximum potential.

It is also necessary that our leaders live separated and dedicated lives. God will not use us as effectively as He wants if His people do not obey His commands to come out from among the world and live and preach separated Christian living.

We here at Southeastern want to do all God leads us to do in reaching a world for Christ—planting churches around the world, sharing the gospel, reaching and teaching young lives to be effective tools in the hands of the Master Carpenter. Would you pray for us that we would do just that as we train the ones on whom our mantle will fall.

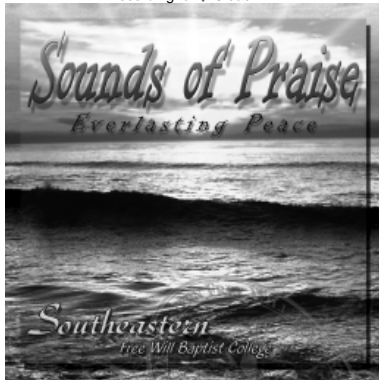

New Recording Available

Southeastern is happy to present our latest recording by our college ensemble and small groups entitled "Sounds of Praise: Everlasting Peace."

Songs on this new CD include Songsby the Sounds of Praise Ensemble as well as the Majestic Praise Trio, the Adoration Trio, and the Redeemed Quartet.

You can call the college at 1-888-U-4-SFWBC or go online at www.sfwbc.edu and order copies of this new recording for $15 each.

Southeastern Hires New Staff Members

a recent graduate of Southeastern Free Will Baptist College, has been employed as Financial Assistant in the Business Department. He will be working primarily with student billing and in financial reporting for the college, as well as providing general assistance to the Business Manager.

Timothy is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Hales, and has one brother, Stephen, and three sisters, Laura Frazier, Debbie Davis, and Dana Edmisten. Timothy was born in Jasper, Alabama in 1983, and was saved at age four in the First Free Will Baptist Church in that city where his father was the pastor. He accepted the Christ in a revival meeting at the church with Brother J. D. Norris as the evangelist.

At age five Timothy moved to Matthews, North Carolina where his parents served under the North Carolina state mission board while establishing a new church. His father is still serving that congregation as pastor. Timothy attended Bible Baptist Christian School, where he graduated from high school on June 1, 2001. While in the Matthews church he was active in visitation, junior church, Sunday School, and Vacation Bible School.

Timothy entered Southeastern Free Will Baptist College as a student in the fall of 2001.

He received an Associate Degree in Business in May, 2004.

He will continue as a student at Southeastern, and plans to get a Bachelor Degree in Christian Education majoring in Secondary Education with proficiencies in Business and Math. His goal is to teach these subjects in a Christian school in the future.

On May 31, 2003, he married Michelle Cortez from Charlotte, North Carolina. They are presently active in White Oak Hill Free Will Baptist Church in Bailey, North Carolina.

While a student at Southeastern, Timothy worked part time at Raleigh Christian Academy, and then served in the college cafeteria as an assistant to the Food Services Manager, Mr. Mike Morris. In February 2003, he went to work in the business office of the college, where he has been serving as an assistant to the Business Manager, Mrs. Vicky Morris.

Timothy states, "It is a great honor and privilege to be a part in ministering with people who want to serve God, when compared to some of the secular places where I have worked."

Katie Jamison,

another recent graduate of Southeastern Free Will Baptist College, has been employed as Promotion Assistant. She prepares promotional literature, works with the publishing of The Standard, and is the assistant to Promotional Director, Josh Baer.

Katie was born in Wagoner, Oklahoma on March 6, 1983. She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Jamison. She has one older sister, Jessie, and three younger brothers, Randy, Corey, and Riley.

Katie was saved at age seven at youth camp when her father was the pastor in Alma, Arkansas. While Katie was growing up, her father pastored seven years in Oklahoma, five years in Arkansas, and two years in Missouri.

While her father was pastor of the First FWB Church in Haskell, Oklahoma, Katie graduated from high school in May, 2001, after being home schooled for 8 years. After graduation, she worked a year in Tulsa and saved money to attend Southeastern. In the meantime, her older sister, Jessie, attended Southeastern, where she graduated in May, 2004, with a Bachelor Degree in Christian Education, majoring in Secondary Education with proficiencies in English and History.

Katie enrolled at Southeastern in the fall of 2002. While in college she served as student body treasurer and prayer captain. She graduated May, 2004, with an Associate Degree in Business.

She attends Landmark Free Will Baptist Church in Cary, NC, where Rev. Nate Ange is the pastor. She works with the teens, does outreach and soul winning visitation, plays the piano for teen church, and sings in the choir.

One of Katie's goals is to use the talents God has given her as she serves in the Promotion Department of the college. She also desires to use what she has learned in college and throughout life to serve the Lord and win souls to Christ. She is sure that she is doing is what God wants her to do. Katie states, "I love my job because I believe in what I'm doing, and I'm excited about being a part of what God is doing at Southeastern."

The faculty and administration of Southeastern are excited to announce the hiring of these two recent graduates, and welcome them to the staff.

THE CROSS...THE SECRET TO THE CHRISTIAN LIFE

By Christian Powell

Just recently in our church pulpit, a visiting preacher made the statement, "The cross is the secret to the Christian life." When the statement was made, I pondered it for just a moment, then I concluded that it surely must be so. The cross of the Lord Jesus Christ and all that it means and represents is the bedrock truth and concept of the entire Bible. We have said for years that all of the Old Testament points up to it, while all of the New Testament points back to it. It truly is the focal point of not only the Bible but world history itself.

Paul, in I Corinthians 1:18, declared that the message of the cross of Christ is the very power of God for those who are saved. He then stated in Galatians 6:14 that he would glory in that very cross. We join with the apostle by testifying that we too will glory in nothing but the cross, not because of the uniqueness of that particular timber that was used but because of the uniqueness of the One who gave His all upon that cursed tree!

Constant and correct reflection upon the totality of that one event will certainly affect the way we think, act, speak, and serve. The Christian life cannot be lived outside of the context of the cross. It must permeate everything about us. It is the secret to our success as believers.

1. It is the secret to our forgiveness.

Certainly, no cleansing and freedom from sin would be possible without the shed blood and the sacrificial death of Jesus. Without that, there would be no remission (Hebrews 9:22). Our atonement was secured on that windswept hill outside of Jerusalem. 2. It is the secret to our fellowship.

When "It is finished" was heard from the lips of our Savior, the middle wall of division between Holy God and sinful man was obliterated. That deep chasm was spanned forever, and that sweet fellowship, long interrupted by Eden's curse, was reinstated. And now we have daily, continual, and intimate access and communication with the God of Heaven, all because of the cross.

3. It is the secret to our focus:

Having constant a gaze upon Jesus and His cross seems to bring everything into proper perspective. As we look unto Jesus and reflect on His agony and pain (Hebrews 12:2), we find that the things of this world really do grow strangely dim. Our priorities get back in line.

4. It is the secret to our fight.

When I see what my sin did to my Lord, I am more determined to resist Satan and to flee the constant enticements of the flesh and the allurements of this world. Living in the shadow of the cross increases our personal holiness and our desire to remain unspotted from the defilement of disobedience.

5. It is the secret to our fruit.

We were chosen and deemed to bear much fruit. Calvary stands as a motivation for greater service and productivity for God's kingdom.

6. It is the secret to our future.

One day in eternity, when the Church is singing that new song of the redeemed, a song which the angels cannot sing... we will know that it is all because of Calvary. "Nothing in my hands I bring, simply to His cross I cling". Jesus really did pay it all, and all to Him we truly owe!

God help us if we ever fail to live one moment in light of Calvary. I'm fully convinced that we would pray more and complain less. We would witness more fervently and give more sacrificially. Hell would be less populated. Our churches would be more populated. May the Lord Jesus help us as Christians, as churches, and as a college...to never forget that the cross is the key to the Christian life. It is not a position, not a salary, not a reputation, and not set of man-made expectations. The secret is found in a real, vibrant relationship with the Lamb of God and a constant reminder of His sacrifice upon an old rugged cross!

Lee and Julie Patrick (97 and 96 graduates) minister at the First FWB Church in Florence, South Carolina. Lee has been the pastor for the past 2 ½ years, having served as the associate pastor for 4 ½ years. Julie serves as the church secretary and has taught several years in their church school, Maranatha Christian.

Lee is originally from Goldsboro, NC and went on to earn a masters degree from Pensacola Christian College in 1998. Julie grew up in the Cramerton Church in Gaston County, NC and met Lee at Southeastern. God has blessed them with two precious sons, Brandon (5) and Bradley (3) and continues to bless their family with a fruitful ministry.

According to Lee, the greatest blessings gained at Southeastern were the exposure to red, hot preaching, the godly influence of the staff, and good Christian friends. We love the Patricks and praise God for what He is doing through these fine Southeastern alumni.

Campus Revival Speaker Announced

President Stox has announced that Pastor Greg Floars will be preaching the opening revival for the 2004-2005 school year.

Greg Floars is a 1996 graduate of Southeastern and is now the pastor of the Sawyer FWB Church in Sawyer, Michigan.

This fall, Pastor Floars' daughter, Laura Lea, will be attending Southeastern, as well as Renee Miller, another young lady from his church.

The revival meetings will begin on Monday evening, August 23. There will be four services—two during the evening on Monday and Tuesday at 7 P.M., and two morning services on Tuesday and Wednesday at 9:30 A.M. Please pray for these important services. The public is welcome to attend.

ceived his Master of Science in Educational Administration from Pensacola Christian College in 1985.

Dr. Baer states that his goals at Southeastern are the same as the mission of the college - to train students for work in ministry. He believes that it takes two objectives to reach these goals. One, is in the students knowing in other words Southeastern has high academic standards while imparting knowledge to the students, and two, in students doing - Southeastern shows the students how to put to work in a practical way what has been learned in the classroom. He believes that to be effective in ministry, it takes a blend and balance of these two objectives.

Dr. Baer is excited about the online studies offered by Southeastern, which will make it possible for students to complete a degree program online in the comfort of their homes. He believes that if a person has a computer and a mouse, he can pursue and eventually complete his education at Southeastern. See the related article on Southeastern's online degree program on page one.

EFFECTIVE PRINCIPLES FOR WORLD EVANGELISM

Johnny Pike

Acts 13:1-4

1 Now there were in the church that was at Antioch certain prophets and teachers; as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, which had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 As they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them.

3 And when they had fasted and prayed, and laid their hands on them, they sent them away.

4 So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed unto Seleucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

I. A Spirit filled Local New Testament Church:
v-1 "... the church that was at Antioch. . ."

II. A Focused Leadership:
v-2 "As they ministered. . ."

III. An Aggressive Work Ethic:
v-2 "As they ministered. . ."

IV. A Spiritual Approach:
v-2,3 "when they had fasted and prayed..."

LIVING EXAMPLES:

The church, of which I am a member recently had its annual big day with more than 3,000 in attendance. This number included more than 800 first time visitors and the Lord blessed with nearly 300 professions of faith. There were more than 1500 on our buses and more than 700 in our Spanish church. God has been good to our church and it has nearly doubled in attendance in the last six years without compromising its standards or using worldly music. Our pastor was asked how this was being accomplished and how the church continues to grow year after year without giving in to the pressures to adapt to the modern "church-growth" methods. His reply was simple. He said the answer can be found in three words, "fast, pray, and work."

Bro. Ken Jackson is applying these same principles in establishing a new local New Testament church in Burlington, N.C. and again God is honoring his efforts. Knocking on thousands of doors and faithfully talking to multitudes of people, one on one, day after day and week after week is paying off and this young church is seeing many professions of faith and their numbers are increasing week after week.

THE BIBLICAL WAY:

This is the way the work was accomplished in the Book of Acts through local churches like the one in Antioch, and it is still the Biblical way and when its principles are applied they will still work. Fasting, praying and hard work, are not magic wands but they are the methods by which the work of God, winning souls and disciplining them, is empowered. I have often said that our church leaders can't even make announcements without talking about soul winning. After having been a member of this church for six years I can truly say that door to door, person to person, old fashioned confrontational soul winning that has been bathed in prayer from hearts that have been willing to invest personal efforts in fasting and just plain hard work is still the way to build a strong New Testament local church. God honors His Word and when Jesus is lifted up by men and women who have been lifted up by Him He will honor and bless. There are no short cuts nor substitutes.

WHY SO LITTLE?

Why then do we not see more results from our mission works and our established churches? Could it be that we are not really applying these principles in our ministries? If we would be honest with ourselves we would realize that there is little or no prayer, less fasting, and when compared to the work schedule and efforts of the average person on the street, little hard work being applied to the greatest work in all the world—world evangelism.

WHY SO FEW WILLING TO GO?

Why are so few willing to leave the comforts and security of home and established ministries to plant a new church or to go to a foreign mission field? Could it be that we are not really applying these principles in our ministries? We want things handed to us without having to invest blood, sweat and tears. It just doesn't happen that way in life and it certainly will not happen in the work of God.

WHY SO FEW CHURCHES INVOLVED?

Why do so few local churches have a viable mission program? It is not because they can't or because of their size or because of their lack of resources. Could it be that they are not willing to invest the effort necessary through fasting, praying and working that it takes to have such a program? Could it be that it is easier to let the "denominational boys" or the "especially called ones" do it? It requires less effort that way. The sad thing is that the job is not getting done or it is languishing in the land of inefficiency and indifference while millions of souls die without Christ.

REVIVAL IS NEEDED:

We just need to get back to the basics—fasting, praying and hard working local New Testament churches with a focused membership and an aggressive work ethic. This Spiritual approach will enable us to receive all we need to get the job done. God is not a respecter of persons but He does require something from us if we are to be empowered to accomplish His will in reaching a world for Christ.

We need to stop making excuses and accept the responsibility for our failures and get back to God's "Principles for World Evangelism."

This seminar can help your missions program develop into the kind of ministry that will enable your church to accomplish the goals that our Lord gave to it in the Great Commission.

Each of the two sessions will be approximately one and one half hours long. Pastors, we want to encourage you to attend and to bring some of your key laymen. We believe it will worth your time and effort.
